

Sinclair Broadcasting's decision to force their stations to air an anti-Kerry documentary days before the election is a clear example of the dangers of media consolidation. Media monopolies are not good for democracy...they are good for totalitarian and communist societies is that what the media and FCC are aiming for?

Sinclair uses the public airwaves free of charge, and is obligated by law to serve the public interest. By showing one sided programming that obviously match with the Sinclair Broadcasting's political contributions does not serve the public interest. We need less "propaganda news" and more real news about the facts and effects of today's policies.

Sinclair's actions show why we need to strengthen media ownership rules, not weaken them. They show why the license renewal process needs to involve more than a returned postcard. Thank you.
